1803		15	2	17	H. Parker	His management is thoroughly conscientious. His standards in instruction & work are about the same as formerly, but there is improvement in school atmosphere. The teaching would be more successful with more driving force behind it and with the development of an efficient monitorial system. A good teacher. 77
		2	8	17	H. Parker	Good work was on the whole noted at this visit. Details of organization with the exception of the preparation of a monitorial list had all received attention. The instructional work was up to former standards; in some cases it was in advance. A good teacher. 80.
		20	2	18	H. "	Maintains an even standard of attainment. There are good points in his school. Cheerfulness and tidiness are features. Some of his methods are not of the most modern type. A good teacher. 80

		23 . 8 15/1327 H. (Trans.)	Mrs. Lester was reported by the school board as unsuitable. Mrs. Lester is very deaf, and has to keep her pupils quiet by rapping on the desk with a ruler. In class she is very nervous, and has to repeat the questions many times before she can make herself heard. Her manner is very kindly, for she is very fond of her children, quite too much so, perhaps, for their welfare. At the same time, during the whole school year, she has succeeded fairly well in keeping her pupils quiet. Mrs. Lester is intelligent, but very deaf, and has really striven to do what she could for her children.

		16 7 15 H. (Trans.)	As a teacher, she is very quiet, patient, and kind. Her pupils are fairly well behaved, and progress fairly well. Her general management is good, and her discipline is generally satisfactory. But her pronounced deafness is a serious handicap, and there is a good deal of talking. (She never heard 64. prov.)
