TEACHER DROWNED

CAUGHT IN UNDERTOW.

RESCUE ATTEMPT FAILS.

Caught in the undertow at the ocean beach at Boneo, about a mile from Cape Schanck, yesterday morning John Commons, aged 20 years, school teacher, was drowned. His body has not been recovered.

Commons had been in charge of the Boneo State school since January 27, the beginning of the present school year. Accompanied by seven other young men who live in the district he went to the ocean beach yesterday morning. Shortly before midday he was caught by the strong undertow and carried out to sea. Eric Buckingham, one of his companions, went to his assistance, but finding himself in difficulties he was forced to release his hold. Members of the party ran to the home of Mr. H. Cairns. A message was sent to Mounted-constable Nolan, of Dromana, and Mounted-constable Surrey, of Rosebud. When they reached the beach the body of Commons was seen floating about half a mile from the beach. Mounted-constable Nolan travelled by motor-car to Flinders, and from there he sailed in a fast motor-launch to the beach at Boneo. The body, however, could not be found. The search was continued until nightfall without success.
