SUDDEN DEATH OF A COLOUR VISITOR

Mr. Daniel John Buckley, a teacher in a Roman Catholic school at Kyneton, died suddenly last Saturday night, at his lodgings, 25 Bourke-street, Fitzroy. Mr. Buckley, who was 71 years of age, came to Melbourne on a visit last Friday, and, though usually a man of temperate habits, he became so intoxicated in the city on Saturday as to necessitate his being locked up in the Little Bourke-street Watchhouse. This was at about 1 o'clock, and it was not until six hours afterwards that he was sufficiently sober to be admitted to bail. He went directly from the watchhouse to his lodgings, and Mrs. Buckley put him to bed about midnight. Except for being slightly under the influence of liquor, her husband seemed quite well, but at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, when she went to arouse him, she was shocked to find him dead. Mr. Nelly, L.R.C.P., was called in, and pronounced that life had been extinct for some hours, and expressed the opinion that death had resulted from heart failure. A few years ago Buckley complained of pain in the region of the heart, but he had not been under the care of a medical man for 35 years. The body has been removed to the Morgue.

It appears however from the Inspector's reports that she is an excellent Sewing Mistress; but on the only occasion on which she presented herself for exam ⁿ as a teacher, she exhibited extreme ignorance of the elementary subjects which a junior Assistant is called upon to teach - (signed) G. W. B. 14.2.73

M. B. 388 = 14 3 73 8742. A certificate of the papers confirms me in the opinion that the exemption applied for, even if true, possible under the Regulations should not be allowed. M^{rs}.

Burbank's answer at the exam: which she did attend had have disgraced an ordinary 3rd class scholar, & M^{rs} Burbank now states that she has not been studying, relying upon getting the benefit of a clause in the old regulations which she had repeated intimation did not apply to her. I can see nothing to be said in favor of the application being granted. G. W. B. 19.3.73.

Agree with the Inspector General H. V. 20.3.73
