PRINCE'S-BRIDGE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF INQUIRY UPON MR CONNOR

The following report of the board of inquiry into the charges preferred against Mr Connor, the superintendent and schoolmaster of the Prince's-bridge industrial schools, was laid upon the table of the Assembly, and ordered to be printed:—

"Sheriff's Office, Melbourne,

"26th April, 1866.

"SIR,—I have the honor to forward herewith, for the information of the Governor in Council, the report and proceedings of the board appointed to inquire into certain charges which had been preferred against Mr Connor, the superintendent of the Prince's-bridge industrial schools. And I beg also to return the letter addressed to you by the inspector of industrial schools, dated the 28th March; together with the enclosures relating to the case, and which were forwarded to me with your letter No. 1148.

"I have the honor to be, Sir, your most obedient servant,

"(Signed) "CLAUD FARIE, Sheriff.

"The Honorable the Chief Secretary,
&c., &c., &c."

REPORT.

"The board appointed by his Excellency the Governor in Council, to inquire into and report on certain charges preferred against Mr Connor, the superintendent of the Prince's-bridge industrial schools, as contained in a letter dated 28th March, 1866, addressed to the inspector of industrial schools by Mr Macfarlane, the clerk and storekeeper of the department, have the honor to furnish the following report for the information of the Governor in Council:—

"The board assembled at the schools on Thursday, the 12th inst., and after hearing certain evidence, adjourned from time to time, as fully detailed in the proceedings appended hereto. It will be seen that the evidence on oath has been taken at great length; and, although some of it may be deemed somewhat irrelevant, the board considered that in an inquiry of this kind, the utmost latitude should be allowed in the evidence on both sides, in the hope of eliciting truth in a matter of such vital importance, not only as regards the character of the officer more immediately concerned, but for the interest of the important public institution with which he is connected.

"The evidence, as will be seen, is principally that of the inmates of the institution, who, almost without exception, have sprung from the very dregs of society, and from their early training not likely to be very reliable witnesses; and the contradictory and frequently improbable accounts which they give of many of the details of the different charges alleged against Mr Connor render it very difficult to distinguish truth from falsehood.

"The board, however, feel bound to report that there is not apparently the slightest foundation for the gravest of all the charges preferred against the accused. The nature of the charge is stated.

"The board beg further to report that there is not sufficient reliable evidence to sustain any of the other charges as contained in Mr M'Farlane's letter.

"But while the board acquit Mr Connor of the very serious charges which they were specially called upon to investigate, they deem it their duty to report their opinion, in reference to certain very improper and objectionable practices which came to their knowledge in the course of the investigation, and which, if permitted to continue, would strike at the very root of the usefulness of such an institution.

"It appears to have been a common practice with Mr Connor to go round and inspect the dormitories of the girls, while they were undressing for bed, and even frequently to enter their bedrooms after they were in bed without being accompanied by any of the female officers. This is admitted by Mr Connor himself, vide his evidence, pages 67 and 68. From the evidence of the attendant Nixon, page 14, Mrs Kerr, page 15, and of Mr Briscoe, pages 5, 6, 7, and 8, it is obvious that Mr Connor was in the habit of permitting some of the girls to indulge in too much familiarity with him, and also that he did not on all occasions observe that delicacy which he should have. [illegible] in approaching at night the dormitories where a number of young girls growing up to womanhood were [illegible] Connor's own evidence, page 75, he admits [illegible] the girls' bedrooms vide page [illegible] the board consider such a thing should [illegible] necessary for him to do alone when [illegible] female's absence on the premises, when [illegible] should have been to attend on the elder female inmates, and young children of both sexes.

"At page 82, Mr Connor again admits, in answer to the board, that he went into Annie Welsh's ward when he saw fit, and took tea to her at some such times. In the same page he says he, on one occasion found a little girl lying on the floor and crying, and that he put her into bed with her sister, Lizzie Murphy (one of the elder girls, with whom many of the witnesses allege he has been guilty of so many improprieties). On both these occasions the board are of opinion that Mr Connor did what should have been performed by female officers only, and his doing so, unaccompanied by any female officer, if not absolutely indecent, was certainly highly unbecoming and indiscreet.

"In conclusion, the board deem it only a matter of justice to all the officers concerned to record their opinion that they have had great difficulties to contend with in the establishment of such an institution, from the large number of inmates brought hurriedly together in premises so utterly unsuited, both from the nature of their construction and the insufficiency of accommodation, for the large number that have had to be provided for. The character and antecedents of the children and their parents have also, in most instances, been such as to render the task [illegible] after them anything but easy or hopeful; and it is most earnestly recommended that more suitable accommodation should be provided without any unnecessary delay, and that definite and peremptory regulations should be framed for the guidance of all the officers, having strict regard to the separation of the sexes, both officers and inmates, except of course in the case of infants and young children, say under eight or nine years of age.

"The appendix hereto comprises 144 folios of evidence taken by the board, seven exhibits marked from A to G inclusive, and Mr Connor's written statements, handed in after the conclusion of the evidence and marked H, but to which he has omitted to attach his signature.

"There are also a number of original testimonials of Mr Connor's previous character and qualifications, forwarded herewith for the information of the Government, and which should be restored to him when the case has been finally dealt with.

"(Signed) "CLAUD FARIE,
"W. TEMPLETON,
"F. CALL.

82/31525 Re. complaint of Mrs Morrison that certain offensive & indelicate remarks were made use of by Miss Taylor in the presence & hearing of the school children — Miss Taylor was informed 82/37362 that her conduct in making the said remarks to a child, a pupil in the school, is regarded as very reprehensible: & Cautioned to be more guarded in her conduct in future: & directed to express her regret to Mrs Morrison for the annoyance caused.

82/37877 - Mr. T. highly reports that Miss Taylor's treatment of the children is offensive; that her language is indelicate: & that she declines to apologise to Mrs Morrison as directed. —

82/37378 Suspended from duty from 16th Oct. 1882, pending Enquiry by Dd.

82/44016 Miss Catharine Taylor informed that the result of the Enquiry by Dd indicates that the remarks addressed by her to Mary Morrison, and other pupils, were of such an indiscreet & improper character that the Hon. the Minister of Public Instruction has decided to dispense with her services. — M.O. 11751. —

		30 6 97 Jr. Roll
		21 6 97 19082	On exchanging 2/2 Corbett from 3rd sub division of II class from 1.6.97
		7 12 97 39986 H	Jamdley. Not seen teaching as he did not give a completed lesson during my visit. As far as I can at present judge - he possesses very fair supervision. 71 Good.
		15 9 98 17497 H.	Jamdley: Owing to the circumstances referred to in the body of the report, it is very difficult on this occasion to judge of Mr Corbett's work. It is known, however, that he has not made his teaching and influence sufficiently felt in the class. There is no complete time table showing the teaching usually undertaken by him.
		16 9 98 32216 H	Jamdley: Not teaches in accordance with the (168 date mark time table. Some of his teaching, but is too loud and at times, he repeats 67 Good.
		25 9 99 18597 H	Jamdley. The general condition of the school is satisfactory. The supervision of class III and the assistance afforded to the pupil teachers in charge thereof should have been more effective. 71 Good.
		29 8 00 6707 H	Jamdley. Exercises active supervision during my visit. Should secure more thorough revision of past home work. 76 Good.
		28 5 00 20445 H	Jamdley: The general condition of the school has improved during the year. There is evidence of a good deal of energy on Mr Corbett's part, but there is some want of weight in his manner of dealing with pupils. 72.
	III. 1. 5	30 6 00 Jr. Roll
		1901 12865	On 6th Sub division II class from 1.6.01
		31 7 01 B. Summons	Does not spare himself; apt to flutter; is well supported by staff; has the school in a generally satisfactory state. 80 Good (proof)
		. . 02 18630	On list for promotion to salary of 5th subdivn II class from 1.1.02.
		6 8 02 H. Summons	Hardworking and anxious to satisfy - ought show more back-bone managing teachers and children; - is not in my opinion a good disciplinarian - school is, I consider, in a generally satisfactory position. 75 Good.
		19 5 03 H	Summons: - Anxious to have his school in a satisfactory condition; does by no means spare himself, should however, manage with more system - is but a fair disciplinarian - rather noisy while teaching. 74 Good
	II. 1. 3.	30 6 03 Jr. Roll
		11 8 03 H	Summons: - Hardworking & attentive - on the whole conducts this School fairly well. 81 Good.
