J. P. Campbell Collector.

for the purposes of the "Passengers' Act, 1849," hereby certify that in pursuance of directions to that effect received from Capt. P. B. P. R.N., the Emigration Officer at this Port, we have carefully surveyed the above-mentioned Ship when her Hold and Between-decks were entirely clear of Cargo, and have also examined her Masts, Yards, Riggings, Sails, Pumps, Ground Tackle, and Boats. We find that her hull is sound, tight, staunch, and firm in the Fastenings—That her Passengers' Deck is not less than one inch and a half in thickness properly supported by Beams of adequate strength, forming part of the permanent structure of the Ship, and firmly secured with hanging and lodging knees—and, that her Boats, Pumps, and other equipments, are suitable and sufficient for a Vessel of her tonnage, and in a sound and efficient condition. And, finally, we hereby report, that the said Ship is, in our opinion, seaworthy, and fit in all respects for the carriage of Passengers on her intended voyage to Port Philip.

Robert James Esq Government Surveyors for the Port of LIVERPOOL.
Wm. Hargrave Esq

Dated this 9 day of July 1852

For the purposes of the "Passengers' Act, 1849," hereby certify that in pursuance of directions to that effect received from Cap Porty R.N., the Emigration Officer at this Port, we have carefully surveyed the above-mentioned Ship when her Hold and Between-decks were entirely clear of Cargo, and have also examined her Masts, Yards, Riggings, Sails, Pumps, Ground Tackle, and Boats. We find that her hull is sound, tight, staunch, and firm in the Fastenings—That her Passengers' Deck is not less than one inch and a half in thickness properly supported by Beams of adequate strength, forming part of the permanent structure of the Ship, and firmly secured with hanging and lodging knees—and, that her Boats, Pumps, and other equipments, are suitable and sufficient for a Vessel of her tonnage, and in a sound and efficient condition. And, finally, we hereby report, that the said Ship is, in our opinion, seaworthy, and fit in all respects for the carriage of Passengers on her intended voyage to Port Philip
