His teaching is of a very intelligent character, his methods being [illegible]. He attends sloyd & Art classes in Ballarat every Saturday with marked punctuality. He is a good teacher. 81. Good
		4 10 11. H. "	A good teacher. He teaches now with much more confidence. His work is intelligent & purposeful. He attends classes regularly for his own improvement. He could improve very much in respect of fulness & vigour though certainly better than he was in this respect. 81.
		1 3 12. H. Russell	A loquacious, unimpressive weak teacher. His manner and methods result in listlessness of pupils and in intervals of unoccupied time. Failure to accomplish a reasonable definite amount of work in a period, is making the school careless. Is not equal to the management of this school. 6[illegible]

		24 7 13 H. Dooley	A fair teacher. He does a measure of useful work but mainly in an incidental fashion. Needs more force & decision. His nervous temperament probably hinders him from doing best under inspection. 70 (Poor)
		9 10 13 H. "	(Absent on sick leave) His school presents some good features but much of his own teaching fails from want of thoroughness. The oral response of his pupils is ready & bright, but is often inaccurate.
		1 5 14 H. "	A good teacher on the whole. He presents his lessons in the main by suitable methods and with very fair skill. He could however more closely superintend the daily desk tasks and he should keep a more vigilant eye to detect wandering attention. 71
		31 8 14 H. .	About reaches the standard of good. His school has passed an uneven standard, a fair proportion of satisfactory work being found along with decided weaknesses. Needs a stronger grasp of affairs; rather absent minded. 71
		26 3 15 H. Parker	A teacher of the older school. Does a good deal of solid work, adopts with success some of the most modern methods. Might keep premises in better condition. Secures a very fair tone. A good teacher. 79

		21 6 15 H. Parker	Has obtained at this exam'n, on the whole, results that are from fair to good. Details of organization need closer attention. There are many things, some small, some greater which might be improved. May be classed, considering all things as a good teacher. 77
		7 3 16 H. "	It cannot be said that his school is on a satisfactory basis in school up-keep, organization & educational output, the work is poor. He recently lost a son in the service of the Empire. This may account for some of the defects noted. A fair teacher. 67
		27 7 16 H. "	The management of this important school is too big a task for Mr Leyland in his present condition. He does not get down to bed rock with the work, particularly in the lower school. The training of the S.T. is defective and will tell seriously against the progress of the S.T. The up keep of the school with regard to maintenance duties is much below standard.
