POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

As a sergeant of police was passing through the Carlton Gardens about 6 o'clock on Monday evening, he was accosted by a little girl, who informed him that a young man, whom she pointed out, had made use of some indecent language to herself and two companions about her own age—twelve years. The officer went to the man, who gave his name as Joseph Haughton, questioned him, and as there had been several complaints about such occurrences, took him to the local station-house, and locked him up. He was brought before the City Police-court yesterday morning, when the three girls told the magistrates what they had related to the policeman. The defendant, whose appearance was "respectable," said he had been drinking, and did not remember saying anything to the children, who, however, were positive that he did make use of the language to them as they were playing about the trees. The defendant was fined L5, with the alternative of a month's imprisonment.

		81	51266.	Order in Council for dispensing with services of J. C. Hayes from 11 Oct. 81 for indecent conduct.

"The prisoner John Charles Hayes, late head teacher of the Kilmore State school, found guilty of an indecent assault committed upon one of his pupils, a girl under the age of 12 years, was yesterday, in the Central Criminal Court, sentenced by his Honor Mr. Justice Holroyd to a term of two years' imprisonment, with hard labor. In mitigation of the sentence, a number of testimonials were brought under the notice of the judge, from which it appeared that the prisoner had held the position of a schoolmaster in Ireland, in Western Australia, and for the last twenty years in this colony. His success as a teacher was testified to in every place, whilst his conduct was such as to earn for himself the reputation of an honest, upright and moral man. His Honor, before passing sentence, dwelt at some length upon the enormity of the offence, the punishment for which he said was the lash as well as imprisonment. He would, however, be very loth to order an old man like the prisoner to be flogged. He had taken the prisoner's testimonials into consideration, and they had had the effect of reducing the term of imprisonment by one year. He would, he said, have been glad to still further reduce it if he thought he could do so without injury to the public benefit. The full term of imprisonment allowed by the act is three years.

"Age" 23.11.'08.

OLD WOMAN.

LIVING IN POVERTY WHILE OWNING £1700.

The old woman Marion Hayes, who, as stated in "The Age" on Saturday, was in possession of £70 in notes when arrested on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, has been found to be the owner of considerable property, notwithstanding the fact that for many years she has lived in abject misery and squalor in a tumbledown tenement in Napier-street, South Melbourne.

The old woman, who was in a frightfully filthy condition, was brought before the police court on Saturday, and Sergeant Liddell, who arrested her, said she was behaving in an eccentric manner in Napier-street on Friday. There was a crowd of youths and children around her, and he locked her up for her own safety, as she was very drunk. On his application a remand till Wednesday was granted, in order, it was announced, that the woman might be "brightened up a little." Accused objected to the remand, and said she was anxious to return home.

Besides the £50 note and the two £10 notes which fell from the woman's ragged dress on Friday night, a deposit receipt for £100 on the Commercial Bank and cheques for £16 and £8 were found on the floor of the cell on Saturday morning. When arrested she also had in her possession a savings bank pass book on the South Melbourne branch showing a credit of £100.

After the remand had been granted, the police, recognising that Miss Hayes's premises might be visited by thieves expecting a "find," decided to make a thorough search of the place. Plain Clothes Constable Kelly, in company with Inspector Dalton, of the city council, entered the house, and had an unpleasant duty to perform, as the place was in a shockingly dirty state. The furniture included a small table, two broken chairs and the skeleton of an old sofa, which the woman used as a bed. There was not a particle of bed clothing. The place was filled with rags, evidently an accumulation of years, and was alive with vermin. On the sofa was a small hand made footstool, the top of which was covered over with carpet and securely tied with string. Noticing that the stool appeared bulky, Plain Clothes Constable Kelly began to investigate, and on removing the piece of carpet he was surprised to find a number of valuable documents, including a certificate for 64 shares in the Metropolitan Gas Company, worth at least £600; the title of the property in Napier-street, and three additional savings bank pass books. One book shows a credit of over £245 in the Market-street branch, and the others show balances of £100 in the Bourke and Collins streets branches respectively. The old woman, who is an ex-State school teacher and a pensioner of the Education department, is stated to be the holder of a number of shares in the Melbourne Tramway Company, and is also the owner of some property at Williamstown. The house in which she lives is a four-roomed weatherboard building, and owing to its unsightly appearance and dilapidated condition it was recently condemned by the city council. Miss Hayes received the usual fourteen days' notice to quit the premises, but refused to do so, and was proceeded against by the council for occupying a house unfit for human habitation. She attended the police court and pleaded poverty, stating that if she was turned out she had no money, and had nowhere to go. A fine of 10/, with £2 2/ costs, was inflicted, in default distress. The fine was not paid, and the distress warrant was subsequently returned by the police "nulla bona."

The old woman is a well known figure about South Melbourne, where she has lived for many years, and the general impression was that she was in destitute circumstances. It is only lately that she has taken to drink. At the court on Saturday she stoutly denied that she was drunk when arrested, and said she had only partaken of a small glass of wine. In addition to the £70 found on her at first, she stated that she had two other £10 notes, which, however, cannot be traced, and it is probable that she lost them, or was relieved of them while lying on the roadway. It is estimated that her belongings are worth at least over £1700.

Roll No.	Classification & Qualifications	Authority				Remarks
1903		5	2	07	H. Bothroyd I.W.	:- A conscientious, reliable good teacher who spares no effort. His weakness is mainly in maintaining effective supervision though he is improving in this regard. 85. V. Good
		27	8	07	H. "	:- An earnest, zealous, hardworking teacher of good ability. Work marred by overhaste. 82. Good.
		27	2	08	H. J.W. Stothroyd	:- A zealous hardworking teacher putting much thought and effort into his work which however is marred by haste & unthoroughness. 79. Good.
		28	7	08	H. " "	:- More thoroughness shown - discipline improved - a very earnest and diligent teacher working up to the full limit of his capacity. 84. Good.
see papers as to enquiry at 1903 & order to transfer S.F. Hayes.		.	.	09	2329	Transferred 12 March 1909
957		.	.	09	2329	Apptd 1 M. Asst. from 13 March 1909. (835)
		27	5	09	H. Rowe	:- Is very particular in seeing that his orders are carried out, but is inclined to take too much time over it; is bracing up class IV. & doing good work on sound methods which would be, however, improved by the use of more illustration & more memory aids. He is a sincere hard worker. 83. G.
	V. 1. 56	30	6	09	Tr. Roll
		3	11	09	H. Rowe	:- Has taught class IV. and obtained good work for the time he has had charge of it. He is careful, painstaking, & very earnest, & employs good methods. 84. Good
	" " " "	27	2	10	H. "	Is a capable, hardworker of conscientious ability; makes ample preparation, adopts good methods but is inclined to talk too much in his anxiety to impress facts, & so puts an unnecessary strain on the attention of his pupils at times. On the whole he gets good work from class. 8[illegible]
		11	11	10	H. "	Owing to adverse circumstances, his diligent, earnest, painstaking efforts have been considerably interfered with. He is thorough in his preparation and sets a good example to his pupils by his strict attention to duty. 82. Good.
		2	3	11	H. Henderson	Is doing good work with Class IV but he uses his voice too much and is inclined to confuse pupils by rapid questioning. More originality should be found in the form of problems [illegible]. Good disciplinarian. 82. Good.
		.	.	11	5626	Transferred 15 April 1911
2319		.	.	11	5965	Apptd H. T. from 16 April 1911.
		21	8	11	H. Henderson	Is a good teacher, but he has not been long enough in the school to make his presence felt. He is industrious, but he should use his voice less & should make his pupils more self-reliant. Good disciplinarian. 79. Good.
		14	6	12	H. "	Is a good teacher: He has been industrious in preparing teaching aids and with these he is doing successful work; but his manner is rather unbending. His discipline is very good. 83
	V. 1. 44	28	6	12	Tr. Roll
		7	10	12	H. Henderson	Is a good teacher, but he uses his voice too much. His earnest & vigorous, but pupils should be encouraged to greater individual effort. V.G. disciplinarian. 83
	"	19	2	13	H. " "	Is a good teacher, but his lessons deal with too little matter. He should get much below the surface. He makes good use of blackboard & prepares work for continuous activity but a little time is lost at changes of lessons. Good discipline. 79
		8	7	13	H. "	Is a good teacher approaching the very good standard. His earnestness & vigor are commendable & he is striving to build up strong character in his pupils. He should use his voice less. Good discipline. 83
		25	5	14	H. "	Is a good teacher with an interest & energy in his work. He makes good preparation on blackboard; but rather too many statements are made. More questions should be asked. V.G. discipline. 84
		7	12	14	H. "	Is a good teacher. No fault can be found with his industry; but he should appeal to pupils more through the eye and less through the ear. Very good disciplinarian. 83.
		17	3	15	H. Dooley	A good teacher. A busy faithful worker. His methods are occasionally mechanical, but generally he presents his lessons educationally. He makes good preparation for his day's work and has his school well in hand. 82
	V. 1. 29	28	6	15	Tr. Roll
		2	8	15	H. Dooley	A good teacher, conscientious, systematic, interested in his work. His school is making good all round progress. He controls his pupils easily. 83
		29	3	16	H. "	A good teacher; brisk, earnest, firm. His teaching methods, in the main, are educative, though occasionally mechanical. He controls his school satisfactorily and inculcates good habits in his pupils. 82
		14	8	16	H. " "	A good teacher. His junior & middle grades do a good measure of satisfactory work, but in the higher grades there is a need for greater thoroughness and for more stimulating teaching. 80
		29	6	17	H. "	A good teacher; forcible, decisive. He gives useful class lessons and keeps well in touch with the individual pupil. He easily maintains very good discipline. 84
		1	10	17	H. "	A good teacher; earnest & reliable, respected by the community. Despite a few weaknesses in his school, he is doing a satisfactory measure of useful work. Maintains very good order. 81
