Roll No.	Classification.	Authority.	Remarks.
1126		3 7 08 H. McEwan	A very good organizer and has good training ability. Considering the circumstances he has made the examination generally good – and all round improvement on that of last year during which the equipment & surroundings of school are being attended to in a very commendable manner. 85. V. Evans
		23 9 08 H Teacher	A good teacher, progressive and active, & good supervisor. Gives plenty of class work & the teacher's explanations and the children's almost uniform attention answering are indications to thoroughness in manner. This is revealed when the children are tested. The standard of record work is uneven, very good in some & poor in others. Homework is carefully & neatly done & the general appearance of the books is satisfactory. Written and manual work are to be seen, while that of the lessons in manual work have been omitted. Grammar greatly improved. The plan of the school room reveals a good but not a high standard of cleanliness & attention to lighting and ventilation. 80. Scott.

		5 7 09 H. McEwan.	An energetic teacher. Has satisfactory ability but his teaching does not proceed step by step in proper logical sequence. As a good manager & takes a keen interest in the appointment & commencing of as above 82. 9
		Jr 7 09 H	The classes under his immediate supervision are fairly well taught & progress from year to year is good. Records are kept up to date, neatly & correctly. Some of the pupils in the higher classes show an energetic & thoughtful attitude to their work and in the higher classes in general a fair degree of intelligence is displayed. Discipline is satisfactory. 82
		2 3 10 H.	An energetic & thoughtful teacher & a good disciplinarian. Being in charge of a school which is much under the average in attendance & having to work in a room which is overcrowded & inconvenient in many respects, he has had a very difficult year's work. The results obtained in the various classes are very creditable & show that the teaching is on right lines. Discipline is good & the relations between teacher & pupils are very satisfactory. Records are neatly kept & the school is conducted in a manner reflecting credit on the teacher. 82
