INSTRUCTIONS.

- This form is to be gummed on the inside front cover of the Inspector's Report Book for inspection by the District Inspector on each visit.
- When readers are received they are to be carefully checked with the form of receipt and immediately entered in the "No. for Sale" column or "for use of teachers," as the case may be.
- Teachers' copies are free, and are not to be confused with books for sale. On taking over on relinquishing charge of a school a statement form, accompanied by the money on hand, must be forwarded to the Department. If no money is on hand the form must still be forwarded.
- Books are to be issued free unless Departmental approval has been obtained. If such approval is granted, the books are to be entered in the "Sold" column in red ink, and a note made that they are free issues. Books should be left in school overnight and books should be carefully locked.

better than the oral. There is need of much oral questioning to cultivate the power of positive answering. Many of the answers are wide of the mark owing to hurried or inaccurate thought.

Reading reaches in most cases to a pass standard. Answering on the subject matter stands in need of improvement.

The second grade boy is not well advanced in reading. In fact he is weak throughout and will need a good deal of attention.

Grades 3 & 4 are not represented today.

Grade 5 consists of one boy. He is weak in spelling and arithmetic.

Grade 6: There were 6 present. In most subjects the work shown was good. The understanding of lessons read and of poems learned might be better.

Grade 7 pupils did very fairly throughout.

The Grade 8 girl has not been in attendance here all the year & has some weaknesses.

Geometry is one of them. She will need to concentrate on her work if she is to win a merit certificate this year.

There are two pupils doing Intermediates by correspondence. The work seen done by them is creditable & their reports satisfactory.

The teacher has been working under difficult circumstances for some time on account of unsatisfactory health.

First Visit 1933. Present 17.

1. Grounds. There is a very good garden, kept in order. The grounds generally are well tended. Trees are plentiful and well grown.

2 Buildings. Maintenance duties are receiving good attention. Sanitary conveniences are in order. The school room is kept in a clean & tidy state. The library list shows 148 books. The general equipment is satisfactory.

Records. All properly made up to date.

3 Organization. The teacher has not been in charge long. Some of the classification is doubtful. Some old boys in Grade 6 are certainly not fit for that grade. The teacher wishes to give them as much of the curriculum as possible before they leave, so it may be allowed.

The Time Table is carefully drawn out & is suitable. Syllabuses of work are carefully drawn out. They show that the programme is being covered.

The examination tests were held by the last teacher. Some good papers were seen & some in which spelling, in particular, was very badly attacked.

4 Instruction. The teacher goes about his work in a quiet & methodical way and keeps his pupils well employed. The set lessons that he gave, however, were far too wordy & too little was done by the pupils. The lesson on Tides was merely a lecture illustrated by a few diagrams drawn on the board. It did not come up to modern conceptions of such a lesson. In the drawing lesson (plant form) the teacher lectured all the better part of the time away without the children drawing anything. It is a mistake to attempt to cover the whole theory of such a lesson before allowing the children to put pencil to paper. The work should go on point by point. Then there was no general setting out of the spray. The spray should have been fixed before a white background. Then there was no inspection of tools; consequently children were drawing with thick pencil points. The lesson in phonics was well worked out.

Physical Training was satisfactorily dealt with.

There is a good tone in the school and the work is going on nicely. A good year should result.

First Visit 1934.

1. Grounds. Very well kept. There is a nice garden in front of the school showing flowers in spite of the hot weather. The shelter is in fair order. The S.C. might be asked to get the floor repaired. The grounds are kept tidy.

2. Buildings. Maintenance duties are well attended to. Cleanliness and tidiness are observed. The school room is decorated with pictures of good type and with flowers and berries.

The school library contains 118 books. This is 20 less than recorded at last visit. A careful checking and listing should be done with library books.

Records except for the compilation of the G form, correctly kept.

Organization

The new work for the year has received a good start. Work syllabuses show that the subjects are being thought out and ~~being~~ carefully planned. The best examinations are held at the right times and the papers show work of good standard. Penmanship is in most cases careful and legible. All pupils but one received a rise in grade this year.

Most of the children are well within their grade age.

Instruction. The afternoon was extremely hot and continuous work was very difficult. Being Friday, however, most of the time went to manual work which did not exact as much concentration as more severely mental occupations. The boys are very interested in basket work and get to the task without any persuasion. Training in the use of several tools is involved in this operation (drill plane, snips etc). The girls get the advantage of needlework though there is no S.M. The teacher's wife kindly assists the girls with this work.

Reports of the term's examinations are sent home to parents. A series of lessons in history, and another in geography are being selected with care.

A meeting to form a Mothers' Club is fixed for this afternoon. The mothers have been assisting all along, but without systematic organization. The teacher is trying to impart into the work the ideals of the Revised Curriculum and is meeting with a good deal of success. One of the chief factors, interest, is being secured.

The children work eagerly, & discuss the various problems intelligently.

Sport receives attention. The school took part in a cricket competition this year.

Altogether very good work is being done.

Visited Wednesday. 19 present.
The children were working quietly and earnestly at my entry. Basket work is making very good progress and articles are of a useful character.

- 1 Visited for examination. 14 present Grounds - well kept and well planted with trees. The school is appreciated in the school at Clyde North.
- 2 Buildings. Furniture records as at the Inspector Parker's visit this year. Records are well kept and complete.
- 3 Examination as at the above visit.
Pure examination questions were suitable and set papers carefully marked.
Results were good to very good. The 8th grade did well. Work on papers was of a good type.
- 4 Instruction is very good. The teacher is methodical and evidently deeply interested in his work. Pupils are responsive. It is not at all difficult to get them to answer questions. The 1st and 2nd grades are making satisfactory progress. In their reading the 2nd grade children are inclined to hesitate and are uncertain at times. Most of the children in the school are very weak with the "i" sound which inclines to "oi". Other vowels are not so weak. Daily lessons in speech training are necessary. See the next lesson of study. All children answer questions on the highest content of lessons very well.
This applies also to the poems memorized.
Writing is neat except in one or two cases.

The 3rd grade boy is old for his grade but is slow to learn and somewhat deficient. The teacher must do his best for him. Compositions - where tested - were good. Punctuation, however, seems to need more attention. 8th grade grammar and arithmetic gave very good results. This grade is a good one. Children should have no difficulty with their spirit belts. The 3rd grade boy, mentioned above, did poorly with his arithmetic. New programs history and prog. are making good progress. Some excellent basket work is being done at this school. Work done has a commercial value. This work is being started. A Young Farmers Club has been started. Keen interest is taken. Pasture plots are well laid out and well looked after. In conclusion I am pleased with the school as a whole and wish the very children and teacher do their work.

1 Grounds. The grounds are tidy. Well grown trees afford excellent shade for the children. They have also the use of a good shelter pavilion. The school garden is well cared for, and is nicely laid out, and protected from weeds by a hedge. O.C.'s are in a sanitary condition.

2 Buildings, Furniture, Records. The school building is in good condition though old. A crack is developing in one of the walls but is not harmful. Ventilation of the class room is well attended to. Maintenance duties are satisfactorily carried out. The account is balanced regularly. Decoration with pictures and flowers is good. Records are well kept and are complete.

3 Organization. The time table is suitable and complies with departmental requirements. The work programmes show lessons in good detail. December examination questions were of very good standard. Results as a whole, were satisfactory. The 7th and 8th grades did very well indeed. Weaknesses in spelling and numerals occurred chiefly in the 3rd and 5th grades. A good report was written.

There is a Young Farmers Club at this school. Children keep calves, sheep, and fowls. At the Bazaar show three 1st prizes were gained in competition with other schools.

Pasture Improvement fees have been by assessed. A special project is on grasses and clovers of the district.

The Junior Red Cross circle raised £1-3-0 for flood relief at Koo-wee-rup.

4. Instruction. Work for the afternoon was very well prepared. The method for history in the upper grades might, however, have been better - some exercise to prepare, questions to answer etc. The method of reading to each other from a text book is never very satisfactory.

During this period the teacher did some very good work with the 1st and 2nd grades in composition. Children spoke freely and a profitable time was spent. The teacher's manner is kindly and encouraging consequently children responded well. The points of the compass were taught by the help of a pocket compass. The method and lower grades drawing lesson was very good - the middle grades drawing a well coloured apple from nature.

The 1st and 2nd drew a red ball from a copy on the blackboard. Interest was shown in both classes.

Prepared questions on the blackboard - to direct the reading of upper grade pupils while the teacher was taking the drawing, would have given pupils more to think about. Questions, after the drawing lesson was over, would have tested the upper grade preparation of the reading lessons. It is a good plan to give pupils at occasional changes of lesson. There is a very good working time in this school. Handwork is very well catered for. Children are good basket-makers and are keenly interested in their work.

1 Grounds. The grounds are fenced and are well planted with trees which give good shade for the children. The school garden is very well kept but shows many signs of suffering through the long continued drought.

2 Buildings. Buildings Records. The building is old but in good order. Maintenance duties are well carried out and the account is balanced monthly. Decoration of the class room is very good. There are several well framed pictures. Pot plants are used effectively. Through the donors' club new books have been added to the reference library. They should prove very useful to teacher and pupils. Other equipment is satisfactory. Records are complete and are well kept.

3 Organization. The time table is satisfactory. Good attention has been given to the planning of lessons in the work programme. The December test examination was well conducted. Questions were of a very good standard and a useful report was obtained. Results range from good to very good. Upper grade results were very good. The junior Red Cross circle functions well. Eggs, books, medicine bottles have been sent to the Otago and Hospitals.

4 Instruction. Very good preparation was made for the apparatus work. Assignments of work in geography, history etc. were written on the boards for upper grades. The teacher has a kindly, encouraging manner. The result is that the pupils answer readily in a natural manner. A boy in the middle grades was particularly good in his answers on the lesson "East animals of the world". African and Asiatic elephants were well compared through the medium of good pictures. Older pupils showed attention and intelligence. Most of the upper and supplementary work was of a very active nature, directed by prepared blackboard questions. Middle grades had a very good history lesson on the early bare men and the first boats. Pictures from the junior "Argus" were used. Advantage was taken by pupils of the new reference books during the free reading period. These books are interesting and should be very helpful in history and geography lessons. The supplementary and upper grade drawing lesson was on a cut tomato in pastels. The teacher would do better if his demonstration was done on paper, paper pinned to the blackboard, and not on the blackboard.

R. Norrell Inspector of Schools.

Visited for examination. 14 present
1 Grounds & Buildings fair Records
3 Organization — as at first visit. The five examination questions were, as a whole satisfactory. As soon however as children have learnt how to do a particular type of sum, it should be put into problem form both for oral and for written arithmetic. Books ranged from fair to very good. Weaknesses occurred in certain subjects but, as a whole, results were good. A report was written.
Children are doing valuable Junior Red Cross work.

4 Instruction. Recited work is neatly and carefully done. Drawing has reached a very good standard. Pencil drawing is, however, too light and is probably through children being afraid to make heavy lines. A medium should ~~be~~ be used.
Form, in all grades, is very good.
Handwork is done with interest. Basket making and fretwork are the chief occupations. Some very nice fretwork toys have been made. Formal writing seems to need more attention. Two boys are rather poor at this subject.

Children have a general bad habit of reading and speaking too low. Encourage bright and cultured reading. Good speech training needs more attention.
