		Killed in Action — 9 June 1918

Lieutenant John A. Lennon.

Lieutenant John A. Lennon, formerly a relieving teacher, was killed in action on the 9th of June, 1918, after three years' active service abroad. He was born at Landsborough on the 9th of January, 1890, and received his education at the local State school. After following various occupations, he took up a course of teaching, and was appointed relieving head teacher at School 3190, Rosebery, in August, 1912, and afterwards had charge of schools at Sandy Creek, Wedderburn, Walpeup, Carapooee, Warngar and Marnoo East, Tatyoon and Kiora, Carapugna West and Cooroopajerrup West. He is recorded as an earnest young teacher of good presence. He went into camp at Broadmeadows on the 6th of April, 1915, and sailed on the 17th of July of that year. He saw service in Egypt and Gallipoli and was wounded in France on the 17th of July, 1916, by a piece of shrapnel, which entered his left thigh. He was then invalided to England. There, he attended an officers' school of instruction at Oxford and gained his lieutenancy, leaving for the front again in August, 1917. The following account of his death has been received by his sister, Miss Kathleen Lennon, of School 3446, Chipric, near Horsham:—"Jack and a sergeant went out to make a raid on the German lines, but were unsuccessful. The sergeant was wounded, and fell in the German lines; but Jack managed to reach his lines. The Germans sent up a flare and located him, then turned their machine-gun on him. Two bullets
