April 7th Not being alert on his part at the Criminal Court on 31.3.1925. in failing to detect prisoners moving a bolt from the door in the Corridor leading to cells.

The Inspector General finds Warder Edwards Not Guilty on the Charge brought against him, on the grounds that the conditions were such that he could not be expected to watch prisoners continuously when such prisoners were in the Corridors and he was placing prisoners in the cells.

However he finds Warder Edwards Guilty of negligence in that he did not properly search the Corridors after the prisoners were removed to the Yard and cautioned him.
