Gov. Hake Sydney
Nov. 12. 1842.

Sir,

I have to request you will inform Mr Justice Willes, that I have made arrangements, by which I hope to be able to grant him leave to proceed to England, in the month of January or February next, though as I have not yet had an opportunity of submitting his application for leave to the Executive Council, I cannot as yet make any communication on the subject of it to him, in the regular official manner.

At the same time I have to request you will intimate to Mr. Justice Willis, that as I have found it necessary to grant the full salary of a Judge, to the Gentleman (Mr. W. M. Manning) who is to act for him on the Bench, the question whether or not Mr. Justice Willis is to receive any salary or other allowance during his absence must remain for the decision of the Secretary of State. I have already intimated to Mr. Justice Willis, that a leave of absence was refused to the Chief Justice somewhat more than a year ago.

Even though asked for on the plea of impaired health, after a service of more than thirteen years in the Colony, it is not in my power to recommend to the Secretary of State, that any expense should be occasioned to the Government, by the absence of His Honor from Port Phillip.

I have the honor to be to Your most obedient humble servant

Geo: Gipps
